

Young to head Fusion's future

FUSION BUILDING CONSULTANCY has appointed associate director Nick Young to spearhead the specialist surveying and landlord and tenant department.

He joins after ten years with CB Richard Ellis.

The West Midlands Business Centre of ALLIANCE & LEICESTER COMMERCIAL BANK has appointed Jim Addison to its business banking team. He began his career with NatWest in 1999.

Roger Boughton, managing director of Willenhall-based MULTISERV LOGISTICS, is to leave the company at the end of this year. He will be succeeded by Peter Hearn, the firm's Mill Services business manager.

MultiServ Logistics is the UK's largest haulier of flat steel products and is part of MultiServ Group, a subsidiary of the US-based Harsco Corporation. The company transports more than 3.5 million tonnes of steel a year within the UK and operates a fleet of 175 vehicles and 280 drivers.

NORMAN BROADBENT, the executive search and leadership consultancy firm, has announced that Paul Carvell has joined the advisory board of the firm's Industry and Manufacturing Practice.

Janis Firminger has taken up the top position at Coventry-based HEReward COLLEGE for disabled students.

Formerly director of development and research and deputy principal, she has been acting principal for the past few months since the resignation of Keith Robinson earlier this year. Droitwich-based SUPRA UK has appointed two new customer care advisors – Emma Ashley Jones and James Blackman.

David Shortland, Ken Broomfield (new director), Mark Sills, a director of Shortland Horne, Sarah Humphries (new director)

CHASE HOMES is building up its surveying & buying department with the appointment of Jon Jeffs as a senior surveyor.

With a career that spans almost 15 years, he has considerable experience having worked in similar roles for Bovis, Prowting Homes and Wimpey. He joins Chase from Miller Homes in Solihull where he spent four and a half years.

Bromsgrove-based OPM

Nick Young (left) with Gavin Stephens, Fusion founding director

GROUP, specialist printers of labels and flexible packaging, has appointed Simon Mashiter as their new sales director.

Mr Mashiter, aged 38, has been with OPM for eight years, most recently as a senior sales manager.

A leading property agency in Coventry and Warwickshire has appointed two new directors.

SHORTLAND HORNE, which has offices in Coventry, Kenilworth and Nuneaton, has made Sarah Humphries its new homes sales director and Ken Broomfield becomes residential sales director.

Ms Humphries has been part of the company's new homes team for just under two years.

Currently, she is driving sales at schemes across Coventry for developers such as CALA Homes, Bryant Homes, CDP, Fern-Leigh, Barteak,

Janis Firminger

Jon Jeffs

James O'Flanagan and Wates.

Mr Broomfield has headed up Shortland Horne's Nuneaton office as the local director for six years and will now take up a greater role across the area working alongside Andrew Moss, and being specifically responsible for the county branches.

David Shortland, chairman of Shortland Horne, said: "Ken and Sarah have been key players in our growth over the years. This represents a further positive step for Shortland Horne."

ALPHA AIRPORTS said Mark Adams had joined the company as finance director.