Major office development

Britain's leading members' club for the camping and caravanning community needed an able and committed partner to facilitate its acquisition and move into new premises.

As a central co-ordinating member of the project team, Fusion had direct input into all aspects of the development and 'held the client's hand' throughout, while providing a single point of accountability.

Working from the initial stages of the project Fusion undertook the full Due Diligence exercise of the construction and legal documentation.

Fusion's further involvement included development monitoring during the construction process and project-managing the fit-out, (30,000 sq ft Grade A office accommodation worth over £1 million) working closely with interior designer Arucana Ltd and the clients' solicitors.

What the client said: "Fusion's all-round capability and unstinting support was key to our successful relocation. This complex project demanded expertise across the board and Fusion proved to be the right team for the job."
